

Editorial 5

GESTALT AS STRUCTURE PRINCIPLES IN SCIENCE,
ART AND LANGUAGE

Edited by Silvia Bonacchi and Stanisław Czerniak

Introduction 7

Silvia Bonacchi — Some Preliminary Remarks about the Use of the Expression
“Gestalt” in the Scientific Debate 11

Hellmuth Metz-Göckel — Gestalt Theory: History, Principle Assumptions and Research Fields 21

Danilo Facca — Some Remarks on Aristotle’s Concept of Form and Its Possible
Interpretation in the Light of Contemporary Thought 37

Fiorenza Toccafondi — Phenomenology, Science and Experience 51

Riccardo Martinelli — Wolfgang Köhler on Facts and Values 61

Serena Cattaruzza — Karl Bühler: The Principle of Gestalt 77

Przemysław Parszutowicz — The Influence of Gestalt Theory on Ernst Cassirer’s
Phenomenology of Symbolic Forms 87

Jagna Brudzińska — Type as Experiential Structure from a Phenomenological Point of View 101

Stanisław Czerniak — Gestalt Theory and Classical 20th-Century Philosophical Anthropology. Initial Analyses and Questions 115

Anna Michalska — Gestalt and Science. Kuhn’s Model of Scientific Change in the Light of Gestalt Theory 131

Tiziano Agostini, Alessandra Galmonte — Fruitfulness of the Concept of Perceptual Belongingness 145

Brigitte Biehl-Missal — Finding Form: Gestalt Theory as a Development of Aesthetic Approaches to Organisation and Management 163

PHILOSOPHY FOR A MORE HUMAN WORLD

Philip Ogo Ujomu — Trends in Civilian and Militia Participation in Terrorism and Insecurity in Contemporary Nigeria: A Reflection on Options for Social Order 173

Andrew Targowski — Universalizing or Being Globalized 195

Halina Walentowicz — Global Capitalism and Its Theoreticians 211