

ENVIRONMENTAL PHILOSOPHY
AS WORLD PHILOSOPHY

Guest Editors:
Charles Brown and Richard Evanoff

Editorial — Environmental Philosophy As World Philosophy	5
J. Baird Callicott — The Topos of Mu and the Predicative Self	9
Piotr Skubala, Magdalena Ochwat — On the Role of Symbiotic Thinking in the Age of the Anthropocene	37
Chantal Noa Forbes — (S)Animism, Relational Ontology, and Transspecies Becoming	61
Lorena Valeria Stuparu — The World as a Hospitable Space: A Possible Dialogue between the Philosophy of Religion and Environmental Philosophy	89
Mykhailo Beilin, Iryna Soina, Olena Horbenko, Oleksandr Zheltoborodov — Ontology of Natural Landscapes and Human Global Environmental Consciousness	107
Marta Dixa, Krzysztof Łastowski — Searching for Principles of Sustainable Development	115
Rangga Kala Mahaswa, Hardiyanti — Romanticizing the Past, Glorifying the Future: Working with Ecological Modernization and Developmentalism	147
Elmira Fakhrudinova, Zhanna Konovalova — The Impact of Natural Disasters on Intercultural Dialogue and Its Reflection in Dave Egger’s Zeitoun	169
Earnest N. Bracey — Politics, Racism, and Environmental (In)justice in the United States	185
Maraizu Elechi — Ecogynism as Unspoken Dialogue between Humans and Nature	207
Dilipkumar Mohanta — Buddhist Environmental Ethics: Two Methodological Models	221

Oluwatobi David Esan, Solomon Kolawole Awe — The Yoruba Concept of the Okun Omo Iya as a Critique of Martin Buber’s “I-Thou” and the Quest for Environmental Sustainability	233
Wang Hai-qin — The Role of the Glance in Overcoming the Disunity of Knowledge and Practice in Environmental Philosophy	255
Charles Brown — Leopold, Husserl, Darwin and the Possibility of Intercultural Dialogue	273